On the slopes of Etna, immersed in the greenery of a Sicilian courtyard, stands Sabir, the restaurant of the patron chef Seby Sorbello, ambassador of Etna and its excellence. The name Sabir was the ancient language of the mare nostrum, used for centuries in Mediterranean ports as a means of communication. And this is the language that chef Sorbello uses in his dishes, which tell of that fusion of flavours, aromas and sensations of the Ionian coast and its sea. Dishes that follow the seasonality of the raw materials, and that are inspired by the fruits of the Volcano with its wild herbs.

Each dish is the synthesis of a symbiotic relationship aimed at capturing every aspect, every variation of this land. It is a cuisine that defines itself as a sensorial journey. We invite you to experience it.

The cellar, curated by Sommelier Giuseppe Romeo, has more than 330 labels of national and international wines (France, Austria, Germany, Slovenia, New Zealand) with particular attention to the wines of Etna. The wine list is divided into bubbles (both Metodo Classico and Metodo Martinotti), whites, reds and rosès, meditation wines and spirits.
