Hidden between Siena and the vineyards of Chianti Classico, Borgo Scopeto Wine & Country Relais feels less like a hotel and more like a beautifully preserved Tuscan story. Have a look!

TUSCAN ESTATE SUSPENDED IN TIME

Once a fortified Sienese hamlet, Borgo Scopeto still gathers its stone villas, former farmhouses, and quiet chapel around the original rural core, where time seems to linger in the warmth of the stone, the scent of cypress, and the slow rhythm of vineyard life that has shaped this place for centuries.

CONTINUITY AS A DESIGN PHILOSOPHY

Borgo Scopeto's property features refined, understated interiors that honor the soul of a centuries-old borgo architectural heritage. Guided by a restrained design philosophy, the spaces are defined by clarity, proportion, and balance, allowing the building's historic structure to remain the true protagonist. Rather than seeking contrast or interruption, the interiors quietly extend the language of the borgo itself, translating its timeless character into a more intimate, livable expression of elegance.

CULINARY EXPRESSION OF PLACE AND SEASON

La Tinaia Restaurant offers a more informal dining experience, with lighter Mediterranean-inspired dishes served on terraces overlooking the countryside, while wine remains central throughout Borgo Scopeto's culinary spaces, deeply rooted in the Chianti Classico tradition and intimately connected to the surrounding vineyards.

FROM TRADITION TO TABLE

LANDSCAPE AS THERAPY

The spa is conceived as a quiet extension of the surrounding landscape, where treatments draw on locally sourced olive oil, grape seed extracts from Chianti vineyards, lavender, and wild rosemary. Interiors are understated, with stone surfaces and soft natural textures creating a sense of calm. Treatment rooms open onto private terraces with views over the

SEAMLESS TUSCAN HORIZON

Cypress trees rise through the landscape like natural markers, guiding the eye along roads and horizons, and giving structure to the wide openness of the hills. Everything feels continuous here, nothing framed or separated, just a landscape that slowly reveals itself as part of the estate.

LUXURY ROOTED IN AUTHENTICITY

Borgo Scopeto Wine & Country Relais captures a softer, more intimate side of Tuscan luxury. Through its historic architecture, wine culture, culinary experiences, and peaceful landscapes, the estate creates a destination where elegance feels organic rather than staged. More than simply visiting Tuscany, staying at Borgo Scopeto becomes a way of experiencing the region through its traditions, flavours, and timeless atmosphere.
